

XM Radio is new technology and could help to revolutionize the way people receive there news, weather, music, etc. The FCC should not even consider to try and empede on the evolution of this this new medium. Please let competition prevail, because it can only help the consumers and let the NAB have to change with the times if it wants to survive this new millenium.
Thank you,

Scott McCormick